

Exploiting Matrix Structure in Computation of Stochastic Models

Professor Jungong XUE

School of Mathematics Science
Fudan University

Abstract:

Matrix computation arises frequently in solving stochastic models and usually the involved matrices assume some special structures. In this talk we present two examples on exploiting the matrix structure to develop efficient algorithms.